FOR THE ALUMNI AND FRIENDS OF SAINT JOSEPH'S COLLEGE

VOL. 26 - NO. 29

Rensselaer, Indiana

FEBRUARY, 1966

FATHER CHARLES BANET, C.P.P.S., President of Saint Joseph's College, accepts stock certificate from Mr. Ray Ziegman against the backdrop of campus scenery in the Halleck Center south lounge.

President's Dinner Set for April 17

The second annual Saint Joseph's College President's Dinner, an event that brought over three hundred people to Chicago's McCormick Place last year, is now in the final stages of planning. Sunday night, April 17th, is the date. The Chicago Room of McCormick Place, with its view of the Chicago skyline and Lake Michigan, will be the setting.

Honoring President Father Charles Banet, C.P.P.S., will be the seniors, alumni, trustees, parents, fellows, and friends of the college. Charles Vietzen, chairman of the gathering, estimates an attendance of 350 persons.

The 1965 dinner was a testimonial to Father Raphael Gross, C.P.P.S., twelfth president of Saint Joseph's, who retired from the presidency in June, 1965.

Talking to Chuck Vietzen about the 1966 dinner, one couldn't help but catch the spirit of its organizer.

"So much came out of last year's dinner," said Vietzen. "All the various groups that belong to the Saint Joe family met, and after we heard Father Gross and the rest of the people on the rostrum speak of their deep feeling about our alma mater and how they had seen her grow, we couldn't help but feel just a bit proud. When Father spoke about the future, we were all included.

One of the main purposes of these President's Dinners is to expose more people to the fine job Saint

Joseph's College has done, is doing and will do in the years to come."

Ray Ziegman Gift to SJC Largest Ever By Alumnus

Mr. Ray Ziegman, Saint Joseph's graduate, member of the Board of Lay Trustees, and Vice-President and one of the major stockholders of the Quality Castings Co. of Orville, Ohio, recently donated the college a stock certificate of 500 shares with a minimum paper value of $100 per share. This gift is the largest ever received from an alumnus.

There is also an interesting story connected with this gift. Declining any personal recognition for his donation, Mr. Ziegman suggested that the new $1.5 million faculty building be named Schwieterman Hall to memorialize Father Richard Schwieterman, a priest of the Society of the Most Precious Blood who was shot to death February 14, 1922, during a sick call which he felt duty-bound to make, despite a forewarning. He was pastor of St. Augustine parish in Minster, Ohio, at the time.

The motion to name the faculty building was approved at the college Board of Trustees' meeting on August 3, 1965, and the name was later officially approved by the college Board of Control. A special, official naming ceremony is being planned.

Mr. Ziegman came to Saint Joseph's

Excerpts From Bogan's Speech

.... "What you are" — and I don't mean "five - foot - two - eyes - of-blue" physical characteristics — should fairly well be settled, for it seems impossible that one from a Christian home in a Christian democracy with a Christian college education can confuse right and wrong, or good and evil. Maybe Mr. Hutchins' graduates were not so blessed; maybe they still had to work out what they were after they had left his institution. But it seems to me, within the ethical convictions which must hold you, that "What can you do?" is the burning question and what you do will be your answer to it.

To put it simply, we need doers. We need men of accomplishment. . . . The urgent task is to give everything you've got to whatever you do. This is not simply done when, sometimes, you are jammed into completely artificial circumstances. But even in such circumstances, the guy who has the skill to gravitate to the top of those around him, who applies himself to everything he has to do or that is worth doing. . . . he is the man who develops a record of accomplishment, . . . and he is the one who collects the rewards of a world that has much to dispense.

One of my tasks in life is to hire and fire, to promote and reward. Nothing impresses me more than a man's record of accomplishment. I am no Pollyanna — I appreciate that many things we have to do are hard, dirty jobs. But the man who jumps every hurdle placed in his way is the man who finds the world his oyster. He is the one who will collect unexpected dividends over the years, just as the effort you have expended for a college education will pay off as long as you live.

Today you move farther into a world that seems blessed with some of the greatest social progress ever. The "Great Society" and its forebears along with the American economic system have given us a level of living never before attained. Our store of knowledge increases so fast that libraries can hardly keep up collecting what is learned and said. Our medical advances push sickness and death farther away. Our technical strides are so enormous that fully half of what some specialists will need to know ten years from now is completely unknown today. Work is progressing daily on the problems of hunger and poverty and inequality, and real strides are being made. Yet, despite all these, it seems this is one of mankind's most unhappy times. The desperate grasp for recognition apparent in the activities of the protestors — the causeniks — makes you wonder what really is going on.

. . . There is a certain humor attached to the camaraderie of the Beatniks and the Vietnaks and the Befuddledniks and the rest. I'd like to add the Ecumeniks — those who think the Council didn't go far enough and those who think it went too far. Much of the trappings of the "niks" — the long hair and beards, their placards and buttons, their knickers and perfume — all these things add a comic relief to their protest. Yet, I wonder if anything is really different or if history is simply repeating itself over and over again. Maybe the "niks" are no more than an extravagant manifestation of the process of emancipation which starts at the moment of birth. No matter how I like or dislike the "niks" and no matter how I feel about the cause they protest, I cannot help but admire their involvement in and dedication to their cause.

While I may tolerate in some fashion the kids-will-be-kids antics of the kooks, there is one thing of serious concern, and that is the growing impression they leave that everything is wrong with everything. Before you get any idea that this is Mary Poppins up here in a grey flannel suit, let me tell you this is not a world where nice guys always win simply because they are nice. If my comments convey that impression, then you don't understand how unemotional the market place where I make my living can be. I am unhappy with the eternal cynic and the professional critic. I think everyone should find something good to say about every-

We Hear From . . .

Dear Jerry,

Christmas greetings and blessing. I hope your holiday season was the best ever.

In the next issue of Contact I would like to thank all my Saint Joe friends for their Christmas greetings and prayers. During Holy Mass on Christmas Day they were all remembered in my petitions.

Father Daniel Schaefer, C.P.P.S., Provincial Kansas City Province

Dear Sir,

I was pleasantly surprised to find the "Twin Towers" on the front page of our papers yesterday — thought it would be interesting for you to know that even in far away West Texas we love to read about good old St. Joe. I look forward eagerly to every issue of Contact. Good luck and best wishes.

Edmund G. Ranly, '25, 3219 Memphis Avenue, El Paso, Texas

Dear Mr. Gladu,

This letter is late in coming but sincere in its gratitude to Contact for publishing an article in your September issue regarding the organ fund named in my honor.

I am deeply indebted to my uncle, John Helbach of Palatine, Illinois, for initiating the fund and I wish to publicly express my gratitude to him. However, he would not have done this if it hadn't been for the tremendous work Father Heiman and his faculty has done and is doing in the Summer School of Liturgical Music. I am proud to be a graduate of St. Joe's and I hope you print this letter in one of your forthcoming issues.

May God bless all of you in the coming New Year.

Sister M. Josephus, O.S.F., '63 (graduate of the Summer School of Liturgical Music), School Sisters of St. Francis, St. Ludger Convent, Creighton, Nebraska

Dear Jerry,

I just wanted to tell you that Ray and I really enjoyed the Teacher-Alumni Dinner in the early part of December. It was good to renew old acquaintances and make some new ones. We enjoyed the Christmas Concert but regret that the auditorium was only partially filled to hear the excellent music of the season.

I completed my master's degree in elementary education at the end of the Summer Session, 1965, at Indiana University.

It was just ten years ago last September that I entered St. Joseph's as a freshman. The ten years has made quite a difference in the age and stature of our three children who were ages 7, 6, and 3 when I began my college career.

Our older son, Don, is now 17 and a senior at Hebron High School. He is on the track team and set new records for the 100 and 220 yard dashes both at our school and in Porter County last season. He won the Nelson-Richardson Award for track at the Kankakee Valley Meet at Morocco last fall. Playing the piano is another of Don's accomplishments. Paul, our second son, is 16 and a junior at Hebron H. S. He is student manager of the basketball team.

He does quite well running the low hurdles in track. Jane, our daughter, is 13 and in the eighth grade. She has been in 4-H for four years. She also plays the piano.

I am enclosing my annual gift to St. Joe's. I want to thank everyone at St. Joe's who made higher education a reality for me.

Ruth M. Yeoman, '60, Hebron, Indiana thing with which he is involved.

Every time I say Merrill Lynch is a great firm — and I don't miss the chance to say it — I help myself to a slice of the advertising. Every time I say Saint Joe is a fine college, I enhance myself because of my association with it. Wherever I live, it's a great community because. . . . And where I go to church, it's a great parish because. . . . And where I belong to a club, it's the best because. . . .

If you don't like something, pitch in and help straighten it out. Find out what's good in it and build on that. And if you do like something, pitch in and help keep it going, for it's worth keeping healthy and alive.

"What can your people do?" James Cash Penney, J. C. Penney himself, once said something like this: "If I'd have gone to college, think what I might have done."

What will you graduates do? That is the question Saint Joseph's asks you today. As you leave here today and make a rather abrupt turn in another direction, you will have your first opportunity to answer that question. And as you go through life, you will have many, many other chances. If I know the Faculty and the Board of Control and the Lay Trustees of this college, I am sure it will be here a long time awaiting your answer.

Callum of Chicago, Ill.

Twenty members of Saint Joseph's senior class have been nominated for membership in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges," the annual directory of distinguished students selected from colleges and universities throughout America.

"Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" began in the school year 1934-35 with the idea of creating one national basis of recognition for college students that would be democratic and devoid of dues, initiation fees or other cost to the student.

Recognition by "Who's Who" means that the student was first officially recommended from the college or university he attends and then accepted by the organization. Nominations may be submitted annually by four-year, degree-granting institutions. College juniors, seniors and students enrolled in graduate courses are eligible for nomination.

Nominating committees are requested to consider the student's scholarship, his leadership and cooperation in educational and extracurricular activities, his general citizenship and his promise of future usefulness.

Each student who becomes a member receives without cost a certificate of recognition awarded by the organization and presented at the school, recognition in the publication for the year during which he was selected in the form of a writeup of his college and personal record, and a listing in the index under the college from which he was nominated. He also receives the organization's benefits of the student placement service if he needs assistance in making employment contacts or supplying other recommendations.

Active participation in "Who's Who" broadens each year through the interest of qualified colleges and universities. This implies that with continued cooperation from the schools, the future of "Who's Who" should be one of ever-increasing prestige and service to the student.

17 Accounting Grads Meet for Second Annual Conference

Seventeen accounting graduates of Saint Joseph's returned to their alma mater Dec. 15 to participate in the second annual session of Accounting Alumni Career Conferences, sponsored jointly by the college Department of Accounting, Placement Office and Alumni Office.

The central topic during the one-day session was "flexibility as the biggest advantage in accounting training." Featured speaker at a dinner for the graduates and 28 accounting majors who participated in the program was John L. Carlson, a technical assistant to the manager on data processing for the Crane Company in Chicago.

Father Charles H. Banet, C.P.P.S., President of Saint Joseph's, also gave a welcoming address to the alumni and Mr. Richard Flynn, Chairman of the Department of Accounting, expressed gratitude to those alumni who participated.

Alumni who participated are now public or private accountants, working in the Internal Revenue Service or attending law or graduate school.

Also attending the conferences but not in the picture on page one were George Lawler, Jim Sullivan, Dennis Straza, and Jim Zene.

Johnson Wax Gives Chem Dept $1,000

Saint Joseph's Department of Chemistry has received a $1,000 grant from the Johnson Wax Fund, sponsored by the Johnson Wax Company at Racine, Wisconsin.

The grant will be used to purchase equipment for the electrical chemical area in the department of physical chemistry, according to Father Norman L. Heckman, C.P.P.S., Chairman of Saint Joseph's Department of Chemistry.

Father Heckman points out that this is the third such grant given Saint Joseph's by the Johnson Wax Fund. A $500 grant was given the college "about four or five years ago" he says, and a second $500 grant was awarded last year.

The Johnson Wax Fund has been established to assist small, non-tax supported colleges, Father says. "It is through such gifts that the Johnson Fund continues to demonstrate an awareness how such grants speed academic developments at non-tax supported schools. Words alone cannot express how deeply grateful we are to the Johnson's Wax Company."

attended the annual meeting of the Geological Society of America in Kansas City November 4-6, they found themselves in the midst of a Saint Joseph's College geology reunion.

Seven Saint Joe geology graduates were in attendance.

George Brown, '53, delivered a paper on "The Cincinnati Series (Upper Ordovician) of Southeastern Indiana." Brown, whose doctorate is from Indiana University, is assistant professor of geology at Boston College.

Charles "Skip" Holmes, '59, read a paper on "Thorium Isotopes in Oceanic Carbonates of the Southern Ocean." Holmes, whose doctorate is from Florida State University, is on a post-doctoral research fellowship at Florida State.

Other alumni attending were: Al Miesch, '50, who holds a doctorate from Northwestern University and is now working on trace element studies with the United States Geological Service in Denver; Charles Kahle, '53, who has a doctorate from the University of Kansas and is now teaching at Bowling Green University; Erwin Mantei, '60, a Ph.D. recipient from the Missouri School of Mines now teaching at Southwest Missouri State College; John Kiefer, '61, who is finishing his doctoral work at the University of Illinois while teaching there, and Tim Hurley, '64, who is working on his master's at Kansas State University.

Two Priests Honored by Pope Paul From Gary Area are SJC Alums

Pope Paul VI has bestowed honors on six priests of the Gary Diocese, two of them graduates of Saint Joseph's College.

Monsignor Lawrence T. Grothouse, pastor of St. Peter's parish in LaPorte, Ind., has been elevated to the rank of Domestic Prelate. He is former Diocesan Youth Director and founder of the Diocesan Youth Camp.

Monsignor Alvin J. Jasinski, pastor of St. Mark Parish in Gary and Pro-Synodal Judge of the Gary Diocese, has been named to the Office of Papal Chamberlain. The six honored priests were invested in ceremonies at the Cathedral of the Holy Angels, Gary, on Dec. 19 at 3 p.m.

Monsignor Grothouse received his secondary education in Reynolds, Ind., and graduated from Saint Joseph's. He also studied at St. Gregory Seminary in Cincinnati and Mt. St. Mary Seminary in Norwood, Ohio, and was ordained at Fort Wayne, Ind., on May 22, 1937.

Measure Awarded All-Catholic Honors

The literary magazine of Saint Joseph's College, Measure, has been named an All-Catholic magazine, according to the November, 1965 edition of the Scholastic Editor.

Measure was one of two Indiana college publications and ten in the nation to win All-Catholic honors.

During the 1965-66 school year, Measure will again be a biannual publication, with the first issue to appear shortly after the upcoming semester break and another edition scheduled for late spring.

This year's editor is Ron Staudt, a junior philosophy major from Niles, Ill. He points out that the first edition is nearing completion, but that there still is time for students to contribute material to the publication. The magazine represents a compilation of stories, essays and poetry of quality written by the students of Saint Joseph's.

From his first appointment as assistant pastor of St. Joseph parish in Mishawaka, Ind., Monsignor Grothouse was assigned to St. Mark parish, Gary, as assistant in July, 1939. In February, 1945 he was placed in charge of St. Anthony Chapel, Gary, and received his present appointment in July, 1959.

It was in February of 1963 that Pope Paul first honored him with the appointment of Papal Chamberlain.

A native of Michigan City, Ind., Monsignor Jasinski graduated from Saint Joseph's and entered St. Meinrad Seminary at St. Meinrad, Ind. He also was ordained at Fort Wayne on May 22, 1937.

After serving as assistant pastor at St. Mary's in Decatur, Ind., from June of 1937 to June 1942, he was transferred to St. Mary's Hammond. From September 1942 to November 1945, Monsignor Jasinski served as chaplain in the U.S. Army.

Following his return from service he was named assistant pastor at St. Mary, Crown Point, Ind. His first pastorate was Immaculate Heart of Mary Parish at Independence Hill, Ind., on July 8, 1947. Prior to his assignment to St. Mark's in April of 1963, Monsignor Jasinski was pastor of Our Lady of Grace in Highland, Ind. He was appointed Pro-Synodal Judge of the Gary Diocese on Feb. 25, 1958.

APPROXIMATELY 30 graduates of Saint Joseph's College who are now teaching in elementary schools, high schools and colleges in and around the Rensselaer area returned to their alma mater Monday evening, December 13, to attend the first annual teacher alumni dinner, under the joint sponsorship of the Office of Admissions and Alumni Association.

Father Bernard Meiring, C.P.P.S., Chairman of Saint Joseph's Department of Education, pointed out to the teaching alumni that the dinner would have been impossible without the support of Father Francis W. Spanbauer, C.P.P.S., Director of Admissions, and Mr. Jerry Gladn, Director of the Alumni Association. Father went on to say "For quite some time now, it has been one of my secret ambitions to gather together our alumni and alumnae who are teaching in the neighboring schools for an evening of reminiscing about Saint Joseph's College. Evidently you agreed with me from the turnout we have tonight."

Alumni and alumnae attending the dinner included: Mr. Jerry Baker, Mr. John Baumann, Mrs. Billie Bingham, Mrs. Wanda Buczek, Mrs. Catherine Carroll, Mr. George Cover, Mrs. Viola Cover, Mr. William Elbert, Mr. Claude Grow, Mr. Ed Hanrahan, Mr. David Hoover, Mrs. David Hoover, Mrs. Lola Johnson, Mrs. Donna Knochel, Mrs. Eleanor Kipke, Mrs. Ardis Lawrence, Mr. Stephen Moehring, Mrs. Susie Randle, Mr. William Riegle, Mrs. Ada Roberts, Mr. Richard Scharf, Mr. John Babione, Mrs. Jean Shemky, Mrs. Marcia Timbrook, Mrs. Marilyn Whaley, Mrs. Patricia Whaley, Mrs. Ruth Yeoman.

Fast Varsity Routs Undermanned Alumni

Two Puma Guards Spark Offense

History is repeating itself in part on Saint Joseph's basketball scene this year as guards Ken Broussard and Tom Crowley continue to remind Puma fans of the 1962-63 season, when Guards George Post and Russ Marcinek keyed the Saints' offense.

Sixteen game cumulative statistics reveal that Broussard and Crowley have tallied 295 and 252 points respectively, for averages of 18.7 and 15.8 points per game.

These totals rival those of Post and Marcinek who clearly established themselves as the finest backcourt combination in the ICC during 1962-63. In 21 games that season, Post tossed in 461 for a 21.9 average while Marcinek added 445 points in 22 games for a 20.2 mark.

At the end of that season, Post and Marcinek were named second team all-conference guards.

In addition to Broussard and Crowley, Larry Yeagley and Fred Farley are scoring in double figures based on per-game averages this season.

With his season cut short by a knee injury on Dec. 11, Yeagley averaged 14.6 points in 8 games, while Farley has scored an average of 13.2 points through 16 games.
